

LANCASTER TRAINING SERVICES LTD

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

The Training Manger/Assistant Training Manager will be responsible for acting on these Emergency Procedures
There are 3 trained Fire Wardens and 6 trained First Aiders
Due to the size of our business and the associated risks there is no need to specifically share our Emergency Plan with the emergency services

Key Risks

- Fire <https://lantrain.co.uk/policies/>
- Lockdown <https://lantrain.co.uk/policies/>
- Business Continuity Plan <https://lantrain.co.uk/policies/>

Fire – Evacuation plans

All members of staff have been trained during their induction, Health & Safety Level 1 training and their annual induction refresher training to assess the initial risk on discovering a fire.

- If the fire is small and contained they should extinguish it using the appropriate fire extinguisher/s.
- If the fire cannot be contained you must raise the alarm via the 'break boxes' which will automatically call the emergency services and alert everyone to evacuate the building.
- The 'Fire Warden' will ensure the emergency services have been summonsed and will liaise with them on arrival.
- The Fire Warden will also manage the crowd, traffic, emergency vehicles if appropriate and first aid/medical assistance

Lockdown – Remain plans

- An emission or spillage of a dangerous substance in the vicinity of LTS and there is a risk that students/staff coming into contact with it may be harmed
- Where there are reasonable grounds to suspect that a person or persons is in the immediate vicinity has malicious intentions towards students and/or staff
- When an incident has taken place in the vicinity and it is believed that students witnessing the immediate aftermath might become upset or distressed
- Serious weather conditions.
- A nuclear incident

Business Continuity Plan

What to do when day to day business activity may be disrupted e.g a break in utilities, IT failure, inaccessible building, key staff absences, loss of key resources through theft or damage etc.

First Aid, Medical Assistance and Ambulances

All members of staff have been trained during their induction, Health & Safety Level 1 training and their annual induction refresher training to assess the nature of a medical emergency.

- It is likely that minor accidents will only cause minor injuries and will only require the assistance of a first aider.
- If the first aider decides that the injured person requires hospital treatment then a decision must be made on whether the patient can be taken to Accident & Emergency without calling an ambulance.
- The first aider will decide and ask for an ambulance to be called if necessary.
- LTS have 24hr access to a defibrillator and trained staff to use it at Lingwood Security Ltd 6 Penrod Way

Testing and validation

Desktop reviews of these procedures will take place annually and when appropriate to do so the TM/ATM will test and validate these procedures in the form of scenario's, practice and drills etc.
